

The picturesque beauty of old Kyoto survives on Shinmonzen Dori, the Street of the Artists. Sustained by a vibrant community of galleries, antique shops, and art lovers, these historic alleys exude the peaceful energy of the lived-in and well-loved.

Joining this artistic community is THE SHINMONZEN, a luxury inn with a modern Japanese design by our dear friend Tadao Ando, cosmopolitan interiors by Rémi Tessier and a worldclass collection of contemporary art. With just nine spacious suites, all with verandas overlooking the Shirakawa River, THE SHINMONZEN provides a highly personalized experience and a relaxing refuge in the heart of Gion.

As art exists in the delicate interplay between preservation of time-honored skills and creative innovation, THE SHINMONZEN draws on the exacting attention to detail that characterizes traditional Japanese hospitality while adding a warmer, more agile approach to service.

Add a refined epicureanism shaped by sister property Villa La Coste in Provence and an environmentally conscious ethos and you have a new standard for Kyoto luxury.

This is your home, your urban sanctuary. Slip off your shoes and step inside.

Nine unique suites, all defined by elegant comfort, each accented by a different native material.

In Japanese philosophy, natural materials like bamboo, lacquer, silk, even stone, are full of dynamic life, providing a connection to the divine.

immense marble counters, velvety soft tatami floors – every detail of these bright, spacious residences is alive with the elemental beauty of nature, augmented by striking custom artworks.

Aromatic cypress soaking tubs,

Guest-exclusive spaces like the riverside lounge exude the same stylish warmth as the guest suites to entice residents to linger together with an always-available espresso or cocktail, soothed by the tinkling babble of the Shirakawa River and a benediction of light dappling through cherry and maple boughs.

A cardio gym and luxurious treatment room ensure optimal wellness and relaxation.

This autumn, THE SHINMONZEN will add to the cosmopolitan energy of the lively local community by opening a petite bar, an exclusive restaurant from a world-class chef, and a unique pâtisserie.
